INTRODUCTION TO MORITZ

MORITZ IS MUCH MORE THAN A BEER: IT IS A STORY OF CITY, INNOVATION AND AUTHENTICITY.

At just 21 years old, Louis Moritz arrived in Barcelona and founded the city's first beer in 1856. Its success led him to establish the Moritz Brewery in the Sant Antoni neighborhood, which soon became the largest in Catalonia and a driving force behind the city's urban growth.

More than 160 years later, his legacy lives on through the fifth and sixth generations of the family and the reopening of the Brewery in 2011, after a renovation by architect Jean Nouvel—also the author of Torre Agbar—who masterfully combined industrial heritage with modernity.

Today, Fàbrica Moritz Barcelona is a leading active microbrewery: everything happens here, with an annual production of more than 200,000 liters of fresh, unpasteurized beer brewed on-site before your eyes by our master brewers.

FÀBRICA MORITZ BARCELONA SPACES

Fàbrica Moritz is not just the brewery of Barcelona's first beer. Its more than 4,500 m², designed by Jean Nouvel, hide unique and versatile spaces tailored for cultural activities and events.

From the Tank Room and the historic Barrel Room to the Brasserie and Sala 39 in the basement—where the first liters of Moritz were brewed—all spaces preserve the original industrial spirit and adapt to each occasion.

At the brewery, we offer various group menu options where beer takes center stage.

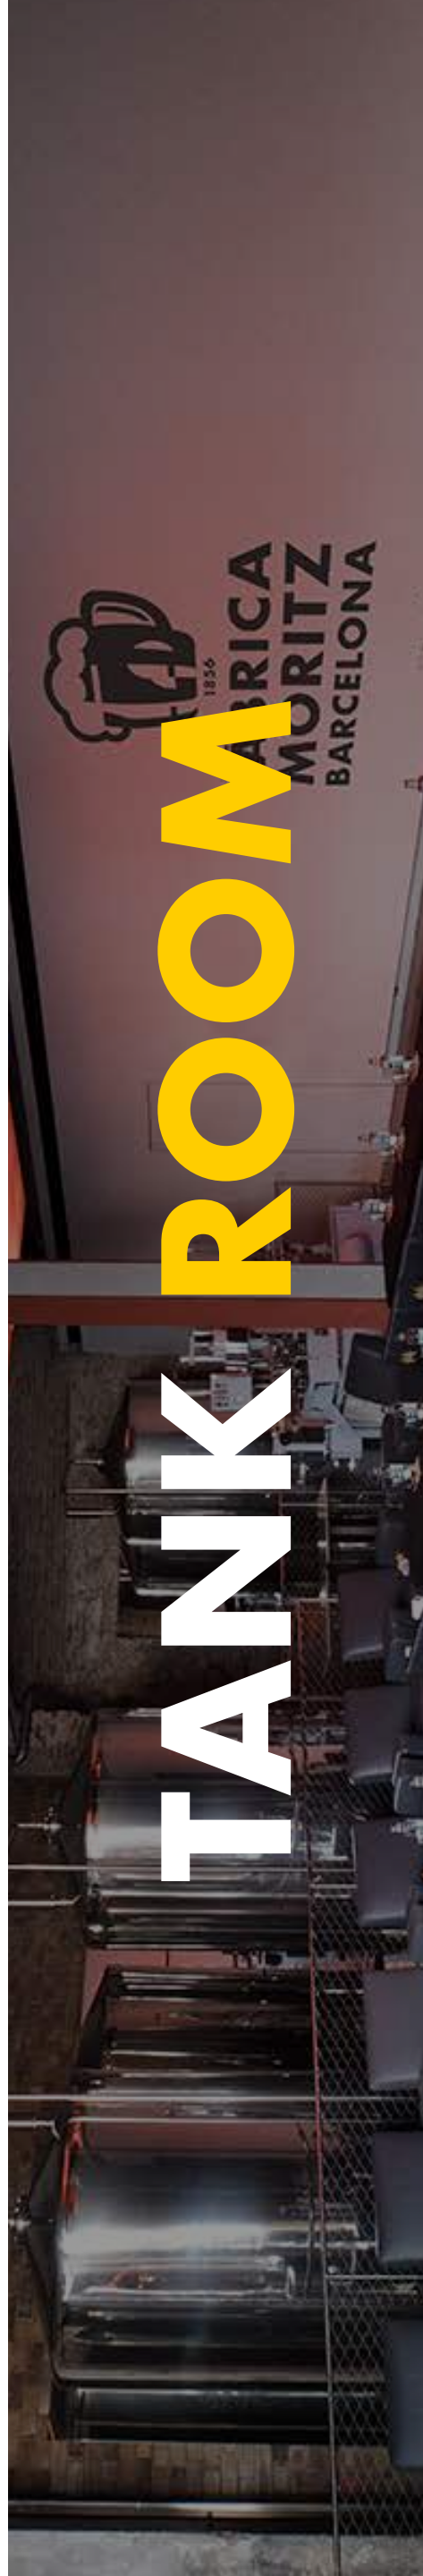

A space to celebrate memorable events. Ideal for presentations, corporate events, and company dinners.
